1. Report from Presidium

- ✓ Permanent Secretariat: The Presidium (Glen Martin, Alicia Roda, José María Tejederas, Roger Kotila, and Leopoldo Cook) coordinates all activities of the Provisional World Parliament and its active commissions (11 out of the 17 established in December 2025). Leopoldo Cook is currently serving as the interim head of the Permanent Secretariat; a support person is being sought.

- ✓ Website: Everyone is encouraged to share the website link (www.provisionalworldparliament.com), visit the site, make use of it, and suggest improvements.

- ✓ The commissions have been assigned institutional email addresses, which should be put into use; these can be shared among multiple members of each commission. The purpose is to facilitate official interaction with the outside world, avoiding the use of personal email accounts. The website also includes a calendar where commission coordinators can post their meeting schedules, making them accessible to all delegates.

- ✓ Additionally, a forum will be activated to provide each commission—and delegates in general—with dedicated spaces for discussion, similar to (and potentially replacing) WhatsApp groups.

- ✓ Press Room: Delegates (e.g., Juan Camilo Silva) are invited to assist Roger Kotila in the Press Room, as members, to ensure consistency across all publications.

- ✓ WhatsApp Groups (Discussions and INFO): The "Discussions" group has drifted from its original purpose. An administrator is needed to help restore its intended focus.

- ✓ Mass Outreach Campaign:
  This initiative involves large-scale outreach to individuals. Launched on November 9, it targets in the first stage to Mexico City, Bogotá, and Managua, delivering 50,000 messages per city via Facebook, Instagram, TikTok, and YouTube. The messages are directed at individuals who meet specific criteria (e.g., age, interest in global governance, human rights, the environment, education, etc.). Each campaign cycle lasts six weeks—consisting of alternating periods of active posting and rest—and covers three cities simultaneously. The goal is to cover 15 countries in the initial phase, followed by another 35 (for a total of 50). Between 10% and 20% of the recipients have responded by clicking through.

  The initiative also involves engaging with at least 100 global organizations that address issues similar to those of the Parliament.

  It further encompasses outreach to national governments—with professional support, yet always under the coordination of the Parliament—targeting the 15 countries selected for the initial phase, plus an additional 35. The list of countries will be continuously reviewed.

- ✓ Funding: The initial phase can be covered with the $16,000 USD currently available. A request for €32,000 in funding will be made to support a large-scale campaign directed at individuals and national governments; these funds would cover professional support, travel and accommodation expenses, etc., for those nations that respond positively. A larger potential source of funding is also currently under evaluation. Additional funding is possible, provided it does not entail commitments to the donor.

- ✓ Advisory Committee: It has been proposed to identify potential nominees to form an Advisory Committee, which would serve as the precursor to a Chamber of Counsellors. Given the nature of this body, the search for candidates should focus on universities, research institutes, and similar institutions.

- ✓ Ombudsperson: The role of an Ombudsperson could also be established within the Provisional World Parliament. Suggestions for prominent individuals with relevant expertise are welcome.

- ✓ Global Observatory: It is proposed to create a "Global Observatory on Civilizational Change" that translates fragmented data into "alarm thresholds." This would offer an effective way to introduce governance and actionable responses to the current systemic crisis, while providing a unified global vision for the various sectoral initiatives already underway. It could be established with a team of 3 to 5 people, requiring an estimated 8 hours of work per month.

2. World Constituent Assembly

There was an extensive debate regarding how to define the criteria and conditions for convening the next World Constituent Assembly as soon as possible, taking into account the representativeness of delegates, countries, organizations, and districts, as well as the potential participation of at least one nation.

The proposals presented can be summarized as follows:

- ✓ To hold the Assembly, if possible, in 2027.

- ✓ To make the date of the World Constituent Assembly contingent upon the participation of at least 1–3 nations; a minimum number of delegates residing in a minimum number of countries; a minimum number of organizations; and a minimum number of active electoral districts—as the political outcome would otherwise be negative.

- ✓ That, based on Article 28 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of December 10, 1948, the Provisional World Parliament could take effective action toward the establishment of the World Constituent Assembly.

- ✓ To advance the legal and political procedure established in Article 109 of the UN Charter, with the goal of having the UN General Assembly convene a General Conference of Members as soon as possible, during which the Constitution for the establishment of a World Federation of Earth would be ratified.

- ✓ To seek ways to activate Article 17 of the World Constitution.

- ✓ That the Ratification Commission should take all necessary steps to join the "Article 109 Coalition" in order to promote the signing of the Constitution by all participating organizations.

- ✓ That the next Constituent Assembly be convened as soon as possible to implement the necessary actions toward the establishment of a World Federation of Earth.

It was determined that it is essential to continue or initiate a series of coordinated actions moving in that direction—such as a massive large-scale campaign, seeking funding, engaging with the UN General Assembly (under Article 109), and establishing a global political party or movement to serve as the visible front for a Parliament (which would function as the underlying structure). This also involves reaching out to nations already receptive to the idea—such as "Open States," small to medium-sized des aligned countries, and the Vatican—as well as employing cultural imagery and narratives that resonate with the public, linking them to a World Constitution.
