The session was characterized by:
• 205 registered delegates from 25 countries.
• 65 people actively participated.
• Hybrid session: in-person in India and virtual via Zoom.
• Automatic translation system for multiple languages.

Main achievements:
1. Calling for the 5th World Constituent Assembly.

2. Approval of 14 World Legislative Acts, including Act 91 to establish the Earth Emergency Rescue Administration (EERA).

3. Establishment of a Permanent Secretariat for the World Parliament.

4. Pondicherry Declaration:

Next steps:
• Convene the Fifth World Constituent Assembly by 2026.
• Activate world electoral districts.
• Promote the ratification of the Earth Constitution by nations.

The meeting began with a preparatory session in which Leopoldo Cook Antonorsi and Nervic Miró explained how to set up automatic translations in Zoom. Participants were instructed on how to activate closed captions (CC) and configure three elements: selecting the language they speak, the language of the subtitles they want to read, and enabling automatic translation.

Those who wished to pay respects to the spirit of Sri Aurobindo assembled near the entrance of the Sri Aurobindo Ashram, Pondicherry. We entered and paid respects, then a brief ceremony led by Guruji Yoga Acharya Arun Kumar in front of the Ashram.

Session start:

Welcome to all by Parliament President, Dr. Glen T. Martin.

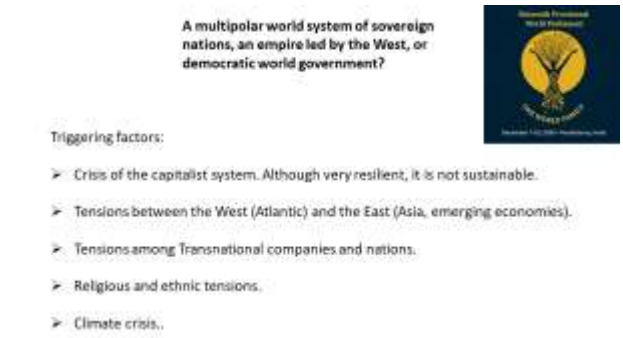
Opening ceremonies, lighting of the peace candles, spiritual song by Priya Venkatraaman. Incluyó una invocación espiritual con cantos y reflexiones sobre la unidad mundial ("Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam" - el mundo es una familia). Review of the Agenda by Dr. Martin, Thank you to Guruji; introduction of Parliament officers: Prof. N. Murthy, Chairperson, Prof. Leopoldo Cook Antonorsi, Voting and Online Coordinator, Dr. Rudolf Schmitz-Perrin, Parliament Secretary. Word of thanks to Hanumesh Rao, Nervic Miró and other key persons who helped make this session of Parliament possible. Recognition of dignitaries with felicitations.

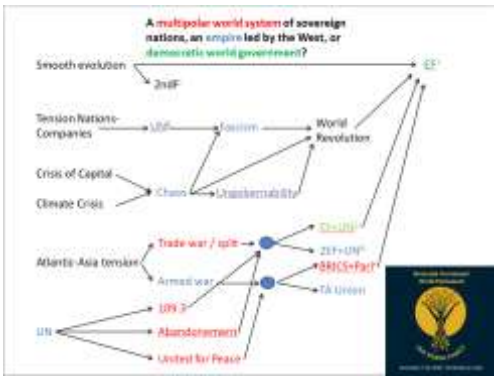
Chairman Murthy introduced Glen T. Martin. Presidential welcomed and addressed by Dr. Glen T. Martin.

Opening ceremony: Glen Martin introduced Guruji Yogacgarya Arun Kumar as the spiritual advisor to the parliament. Raje led a ceremony with the chanting of "Om," explaining its meaning as the primordial sound of the universe, with three parts (A, U, M) and three "shantis" representing body, mind, and soul.

Presentation by Glen Martin: Martin spoke about the transformation of humanity, explaining concepts such as Theos, Anthropos, and Cosmos. He discussed the crisis facing Western humanity and Western society, mentioning that we have reached a point where a civilizational shift is occurring. He discussed the evolution of the modern paradigm and how the 17th-century nation-state system has become obsolete. He presented the Earth Constitution as a solution for a non-military world government. He explained that the world spends approximately $1.7 trillion on defense and military hardware, while just $8 per person per day could cover basic needs (food, clothing, and shelter). He presented a model of the growth of human consciousness, from egocentric to ethnocentric levels, then world-centric (citizens of the world), and finally cosmocentric (citizens of the universe). He spoke about how the Earth Constitution is the real solution to global problems and how it could transform existing UN institutions into a true federated world government.

Presentation by Leopoldo Cook: He spoke about the civilizational crisis facing the now globalized Western world. The crisis has reached such a point that a civilizational shift is taking place. He spoke about the three faces of the revolution: personal (indispensable, but incomplete without the others), social, and global. The three are intertwined and interdependent. While objective forces are leading us in the direction of civilizational change, we must do our part by uniting our wills. While we are driving profound changes that affect powerful interests, we are motivated solely by love. There is no hatred in our hearts. We seek to build something new; we do not focus our energy on destruction or attack. Evil is condemned, but the sinner is loved as a person. He indicated that we reject terrorism in all its forms: it is the desperate action of those who cannot argue their ideas. He explained that the movement seeks a real global democracy, not the kind of democracy that treats citizens as commodities. He presented arguments as to why the World Constitution is the appropriate tool for civilizational change. He criticized the United Nations as an outdated institution created by the victors of World War II. He argued that it cannot be reformed, suffers from undemocratic flaws, and has a neocolonialist structure and language.





Chairperson Murthy officially declared the Parliament in Session. The Chair described the issues before the Parliament, the votes that will be required of delegates, and the nominations which will be voted on toward the end of today's session. Leopoldo Cook checked the Quorum, the online and in person attendees.

The report by the Chair of the World Elections Commission, Prof. Leopoldo Cook, was made. He presented a summary of all the work done over the past three years. It was approved.

Voting on global laws: Several laws were voted on in ascending order. (See https://earthconstitution.world/wla_proposals_for_pwp16/):

Law 73: To activate the global administration of boundaries and elections (approved with 27 votes in favor, 3 blank votes).

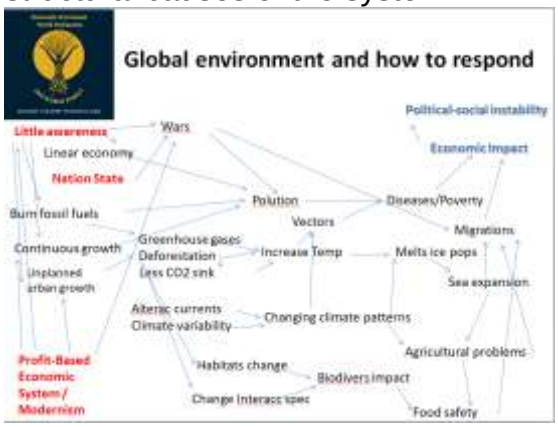
Main Topics Addressed:

World Order and Global Governance
• Glen Martin moderated discussions on alternative world systems.
• Leopoldo Cook presented the need to overcome the current United Nations system.
• Manuel Galinanes analyzed European federalism and proposed reforms to the Earth Constitution, including the elimination of the Chamber of Counselors and electoral districts, and the creation of four branches of government. He proposed establishing Jerusalem as the world capital.
• Glen Martin explained that the current world system is based on the territorial fragmentation established in the Peace of Westphalia (1648), where each sovereign territory operates independently without recognizing any higher authority. Leopoldo Cook criticized the UN as a system imposed by the winners of World War II, designed to remain unchanged and unable to prevent world wars or control the most powerful nations.
• Francisco Plancarte: Implement Article 109, paragraph 1 directly to convene a new convention with the G77 and BRICS.
• Leopoldo Cook: Presented multiple scenarios including gradual evolution, a crisis of capitalism, Atlantic-Asian tensions, and a world revolution.
• Alternative Visions
• Rudolf: Emphasized the distinction between corporate globalism and a democratic world federation.
• All agreed that world authority must be in the hands of the people of the world, not elites or corporations, implementing the Earth Constitution as an enforceable legal framework.

Environmental Crisis and Systemic Solutions

- ✓ • Leopoldo Cook analyzed the systemic causes of environmental degradation, emphasizing that the problem lies in the capitalist and nation-state system of the 17th century.
- ✓ • The need to change the system instead of merely treating the effects was discussed.
- ✓ • Proposal of a circular economy as an alternative to the linear industrial model.
- ✓ • Concept of eco-civic communities connecting local environmental care with global responsibility.
- ✓ • Participants shared perspectives on the circular economy.
- ✓ • Manuel Galinañes analyzed the global environmental crisis (climate change, biodiversity loss, deforestation), noting that despite decades of international summits and hundreds of environmental treaties, we continue to lose ground because our governance system is fragmented and trapped in the outdated logic of national sovereignty.
- ✓ • Leopoldo Cook presented a root cause analysis using a fishbone diagram, arguing that environmental problems (pollution, migration, economic impact) have deep roots in the system itself. He proposed "change the system, not the climate" as a fundamental solution.
- ✓ • Critique of the Anthropocentric Approach
- ✓ • Cook criticized the anthropocentric concept of ecology using the metaphor of throwing garbage on the ground versus in the trash can – both end up polluting Mother Earth. He pointed out that the problem is not the effects but the structural causes of the system.



Technology and Democracy

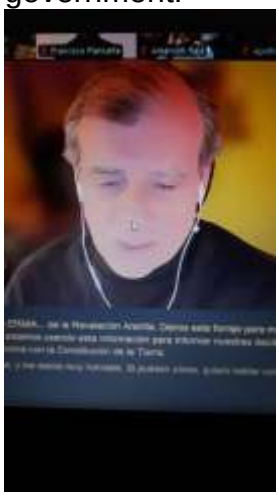
- ✓ • Eston McKeague and Ouri presented Glowkey, a decentralized digital democracy platform.
- ✓ • Demonstration of voter identification and community verification systems.

Young People

- ✓ Agustín Daniel spoke about media control and the need for systemic change. He shared experiences with multilevel systems for youth.

Spiritual and Philosophical Perspectives

- ✓ Byron Belitzos, April Helen, and Taylor presented Urantia teachings on world government.



Aurobindo's Philosophy

- ✓ Hemlata presented the philosophy of Sri Aurobindo, including his five dreams: a free and united India, the liberation of Asia, world unity, India's spiritual gift to the world, and spiritual evolution.

Geopolitics and Alternatives

- ✓ Chandra Vikas presented the Primakov Doctrine and the RIC (Russia-India-China) Federation as an alternative to Western dominance.
- ✓ He presented the concept of a "concert of civilizations" versus a "clash of civilizations."
- ✓ He spoke about Sri Aurobindo's five dreams for humanity.
- ✓ He proposed ViBES (Vishva Bharti Prithvi Sansad) as a system of global governance.
- ✓ Chandra Vikash presented the Primakov Doctrine and the RIC (Russia, India, China) Federation as a response to 500 years of Western dominance, proposing a "concert of civilizations" versus a "clash of civilizations" based on "global harmony."
- ✓ Identified Global Crises
- ✓ Failure of the Ukraine peace plan and ceasefire violations in Palestine
- ✓ Military escalations in Venezuela, Africa, and the South China Sea
- ✓ COP30 without a binding agreement on fossil fuels
- ✓ Mental health crisis in Generation Z
- ✓ Criticisms of the Current System
- ✓ Mass Formation Hypnosis: He cited Matthias Desmet on the manipulation of collective consciousness.
- ✓ Uncontrolled Globalization: He criticized algorithms that traumatize young minds.
- ✓ Failure of Nation-States: He proposed their complete replacement.
- ✓ Concrete Proposals

- ✓ ViBES (Vishva Bharti Prithvi Sansad): A governance system inspired by Tagore to replace the UN before January 15, 2026
- ✓ Global Institute for Consciousness Research: To counteract mental manipulation
- ✓ Global Civil Disobedience: Renouncing national citizenship if necessary
- ✓ Sri Aurobindo's Five Dreams: Free India, Asian resurgence, world unity, spiritual gift, and evolution of consciousness
- ✓ asudhaiva Kutumbakam Philosophy
- ✓ He explained that expanded consciousness allows one to see the world as a family, emphasizing the need to institutionalize these frameworks in concrete systems.

Proposed Amendments to the World Constitution

- ✓ Proposals from the FAEF
- ✓ Presented the proposals of the Federalist Alliance of European Federalists (FAEF), developed with the Earth Constitution Institute, including seven main reforms:
- ✓ Elimination of electoral districts – considered the greatest systemic obstacle
- ✓ Four main bodies – including a World Ombudsman
- ✓ Abolition of the Chamber of Counselors due to lack of electoral legitimacy
- ✓ Reform of the Chamber of States with improved proportional representation
- ✓ Deferral of the Integrity Complex until fundamental institutions are stabilized
- ✓ Six continental divisions separating North and South America
- ✓ Jerusalem as the world capital to transform conflict into reconciliation
- ✓ Systemic Vision
- ✓ Proposed nested systemic governance – an interconnected network of local, regional, and global systems working as an adaptive ecosystem, along with eco-civic communities that link local environmental stewardship with global ecological responsibility.
- ✓ Core Philosophy
- ✓ Transition from a "logic of power" to a "logic of service" – creating institutions dedicated to serving humanity and the planet.

World Democratic Parliament

- ✓ Volnei Batista from Brazil presented concepts of "Open State" and "Global State"
- ✓ Fundamental Political Concepts
- ✓ Open State
- ✓ Volnei Baptista proposed the "Open State" as an intermediate stage between closed nationalism and democratic planetary cooperation. He explained that it is not a weak state, but an intelligent and interconnected one, where sovereignty is not a fortress but a relationship.
- ✓ Evolution towards the Global State.
- ✓ Transition: National State → Open State → Global State.
- ✓ Global problems (pandemics, emissions, algorithms, financial flows) ignore borders.
- ✓ No isolated sovereignty is sufficient.
- ✓ Proposed Institutional Architecture: Chamber of Peoples and Chamber of States.
- ✓ Limited and controlled executive branch.
- ✓ Planetary Court of Justice.
- ✓ Principles: pluralism, subsidiarity, and human rights.
- ✓ Planetary Constituent Power. A power that does not eliminate peoples but brings them together, does not replace states but articulates them, does not standardize cultures but guarantees their coexistence and dignity.
- ✓ Transdimensional Theory of Information
- ✓ He proposed inverting the traditional political pyramid, where the individual citizen is at the apex of power, eliminating borders as an "invention of the Treaty of Westphalia."

Youth Participation

- ✓ Recognition of the need for greater youth involvement.

Levels of Consciousness

- ✓ Rudolf moderated discussions on sensory, mental, and spiritual perception.
- ✓ Michael Ellis spoke about human potential vs. artificial intelligence.
- ✓ Volnei Batista shared his transdimensional theory of information.
- ✓ Baptista presented his personal theory of consciousness: Inversion of perspective: consciousness sees us, not the other way around. Humans as instruments tuning themselves to the field of consciousness. The World Parliament as a manifestation of the evolution of planetary consciousness.

The session concluded with expressions of gratitude to Prime Minister Modi of India.

Speakers and Key Topics: Dr. Mishra presented the Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS), an initiative of Prime Minister Modi with 126 centers planned by 2026. Dr. Sasika Darsh, an educator and environmentalist from Pondicherry, presented her work in environmental transformation, having planted 55,000 trees and converted barren land into urban forests. Discussions included Vedic philosophy, unity, harmony, and sustainable development. A presentation was given on surveillance technology and concerns regarding systems like Palantir. Key Developments: Formation of new alliances among organizations in India. Discussion of World Legislative Act No. 91 to establish the Earth Emergency Rescue Administration. Integration of animal welfare into environmental initiatives. Collaboration between the WBP (World Parliament) and IKS. Next Steps: Pending vote on World Legislative Act No. 91. Publication of the final declaration from the parliamentary session. Continuation of tree planting and environmental education programs. Expansion of educational and environmental partnerships. The meeting demonstrated a strong focus on environmental sustainability, education, and democratic global governance.

The crisis of civilization that humanity is facing.

The Planetary Declaration of the 16th session of the Provisional World Parliament is presented and debated, declaring a state of planetary emergency due to the climate crisis, global militarism, and the collapse of global systems.

The declaration has been read in its entirety, and the debate and final vote on this document are now open.

This is described as the final act of this parliamentary session before the president declares the session closed.

Key Closing Speeches:

Speech by Leopoldo Cook Antonorsi (Vice President for Latin America and the Caribbean):

He expressed great enthusiasm for the work accomplished and proposed concrete goals for the future:

Objective: To achieve operational stability so that the Parliament of the Earth ceases to be provisional and becomes a true Parliament for the world.

Need to prepare and convene the fifth World Constituent Assembly as soon as possible, proposing the period 2025-2026.

Defining who will be able to participate, which requires thousands of delegates.

Proposal for two chambers: Chamber of the Peoples and Chamber of the Nations.

Promotion of cultural changes, taking the Parliament to the streets.

Facilitating the activation of districts (only 3 people are needed).

Issuance of universal identity cards.

Approaching nations cordially for the ratification of the Constitution.

Special thanks to Glen, Hanamesh, Harish, Rudolf, Angeliana, Chema, Alicia, Charles Leonard, and the entire team from Venezuela and Latin America. The activation of an office in Latin America and Venezuela was announced.

Closing remarks by the Session President:

Following the unanimous approval of the Pondicherry Declaration (28 votes in favor, 0 against), the president commented on:

The historical importance of the approved declaration.

Thanks to India for the constant organization of the PWP sessions.

The need for the organization to be more visible and heard in the appropriate places.

The proposal to establish the secretariat in Bangalore.

The meeting concluded with discussions on future collaborations and the implementation of the decisions made.

The final acknowledgments were given by Leopoldo Cook Antonorsi during his presentation. He expressed special thanks to Dr. Glen Martin for his unwavering support of the organization and his personal guidance, stating that without him he would not have been present at the meeting.

Leopoldo also thanked several people for their support and solidarity, including:

Hanamesh and Harish;

Rudolf, Angeliana, Chema, and Alicia for their fraternal solidarity;

Charles Leonard for his work with the database; To the Venezuelan team and all of Latin America for their great participation;

He specifically mentioned Marian Manzano, Ramonesana, Borne Batista from Brazil, and Miro Cielo from Colombia;

and he especially highlighted Nervic Miro;

He also announced the activation of an office in Latin America and Venezuela, making it available to the organization.

The final expressions of gratitude reflected the spirit of international collaboration of the 16th session of the Provisional World Parliament.

One of the leaders of organizations dedicated to environmental and social issues points out that her organization is already taking its activities to the streets.

Pavel suggests considering that the circular economy can be local, regional, and global, and that the local and regional levels are important steps towards achieving a global circular economy.

Francisco Plancarte calling for the importance of "transforming" the UN for the Federation of the Earth.

Julio Mas Estellés (who wrote his doctoral thesis on UN reform) asked about how they plan to take these steps.

Now Leopoldo is talking about the importance of having a plan to achieve greater consistency.

And now Murthy, I think, is giving a farewell speech.
