Summary

The Provisional World Parliament meeting focused on reviewing the two-pronged strategic plan approved in December as World Legislative Act Number 74, which includes the activation of districts and outreach to nations for ratification of the World Constitution.

Participants also discussed the selection of the Parliament's official logo, with 8 proposals available for voting via WhatsApp.

A fraud situation involving two individuals claiming ownership of WCPA and/or the copyright of the World Constitution was also addressed.

Commissions presented updates on their progress.

Information from the Presidium

Provisional World Parliament Strategy

The strategy (two ways) includes two main approaches:

- Path A (people-based): Creating a global citizen movement, activating electoral districts (goal: 34 additional districts this year), implementing Article 19 with 17 commissions.

- Path B (Nation-based): Activating Article 109 of the UN to convene a world conference, outreach to BRICS countries and other groups.

Provisional World Parliament Mission

The mission of the Provisional World Parliament (PWP) was reiterated: to lead Humanity toward a democratic federation under the Earth Constitution. Seven main goals were established, including a successful World Constituent Assembly with at least 2,500 participants across two chambers (people and nations) and implementation of 1,000 world districts.

Plans were described for a large-scale information campaign via social media and creation of a Parliament website, aiming to reach 3 million people and accelerate Constitution ratification.

The PWP derives its extraordinary mission from the Earth Federation Constitution, finalized at the 4th Constituent Assembly held in Troia, Portugal, in 1991. Our mission is to integrate Humanity into a democratic Earth Federation under the Earth Constitution as rapidly as possible, repudiating all violence, deceit, and duplicity.

The 16th PWP session has called for a 5th Constituent Assembly, and the Legislative Review Commission (LRC) has been preparing proposed amendments to the Earth Constitution in preparation for this Assembly. Until the Constitution is amended, we operate under the 1991 version and legislation adopted in the first 16 Parliament sessions. The PWP is a transitional organization working to establish an effective World Parliament in its first operational stage under the Earth Constitution.

All commissions and administrations acting on behalf of the PWP must adhere to this mission. We are not simply concerned citizens promoting peace or justice; we are PWP officials acting under constitutionally established objectives.

Core Objective: Generate momentum to advance to the First Operational Stage and collaboratively design mission statements for all PWP commissions, administrations, and committees in line with this goal.

Goals:

- Successful World Constituent Assembly (WCA): 2,500 participants, with two chambers: people and nations.
- Global District Activation Plan implemented in a simple manner (website) so individuals can easily join their district. At least 34 districts activated.
- Large-scale information campaign.
- Accelerate Constitution ratification.
- Provide universal identification.
- Engage with friendly national governments.
- Bring the Parliament to the streets.

Commissions, Administrations, Committees, Colleges, and Councils should be guided by the plans and goals above and adhere to the following principles:

- In accordance with the strategic and 2026 plan
- All should be part of a Commission
- Monthly meetings
- Zoom platform (with translation)
- One Presidium member as sponsor. Logistic support: meeting calendar
- Details in agenda item 4

Three important resolutions approved by the Presidium were also reported:

- Resolution 2026 01 29 3: Official summary of the World Constitution
- Resolution 2026 01 29 4: Custody of PWP funds by ECI
- Resolution 2026 03 16 5: PWP – WCPA Cooperation

Other key information regarding the Web:

- Website under development: attractive and up-to-date
- Initial mass campaign: 500,000 people
- Project funding (to reach 15 countries and 3,000,000 people)

World Constituent Assembly Plan

The plan for the World Constituent Assembly was presented, to be prepared until September of this year, including outreach to nations and completion of the website to start the mass campaign next year. The assembly will run for 14 weeks of discussions and voting, starting in January 2027, with 2,500–3,000 delegates and a system including predefined electoral districts.

- Preparation: until Sept 2026 (nation outreach, website, mass campaign)
- Pre-launch: Oct – Dec 2026: contacts, training

- Discussions and approvals: Jan – Apr 2027 (14 weeks: 1 week introduction, 5 weeks proposals, 3 weeks consensus and endorsements, 4 weeks voting, 1 week closure)

Work will be conducted via WhatsApp groups, Zoom meetings, and the Consul system.

Key topic: contact with nations, at least one participating nation.

Delegates: Similar types and conditions as PWP16 (2,500–3,000 delegates).

Assembly agenda:

1. Amendments to the Constitution
2. Declare the transition to the First Operational Phase (left open)
3. Invite world nations to convene a General Conference of UN Member States under Article 109 of the UN Charter to consider replacing the Charter with an Earth Constitution, establishing a World Parliament
4. Order adaptation of existing legislation
5. Re-legitimize the Presidium, Executive Secretariat, and all organs

Decision regarding the PWP Logo

The second major agenda item concerned the Parliament logo.

Terms of the logo contest were discussed; participants must submit original designs without copyright conflicts. Voting will take place via the WhatsApp discussion group to select one of 8 proposed logos, with a voting deadline of May 22. Juan Amor highlighted the importance of considering projection across media, suggesting a preference for transparent background designs. Logos will be posted in both discussion groups for review, and participants may propose minor changes once the logo is selected. Roger suggested the selection be provisional to allow future feedback and adjustments.

By April 30, 2026, the deadline for logo submissions, eight proposals had been received.

1. Ownership of the winning logo: The winning logo will be the exclusive property of the Provisional World Parliament, with rights to use it officially in all media and materials related to its activities and communications without time or space limitations. Participants must submit the original, editable design and guarantee originality. Any legal issues will be the participant's responsibility.

2. Use of non-winning logos: Logos not selected cannot be used by participants or anyone else and are automatically excluded from future use related to the organization. With proper adaptations, they may be used as secondary logos for Commissions, Committees, Administrations, Colleges, Councils, and other PWP organizations.

3. Additional rights: By participating, participants agree to assign all rights over the logo design to the PWP, including reproduction, distribution, modification, and other uses related to the organization's corporate identity. The Presidium reserves the right to make changes to the logo, including text and background colors.

4. Acceptance of terms: Participation implies full acceptance of these terms and conditions. The winner must submit a signed copy to the Presidium.

Voting will take place via the WhatsApp discussion group after this session, until Friday, May 22.

Fraud Alert

The third major agenda item addressed a sensitive issue within WCPA.

The group discussed two former members who left WCPA in 2023. Glen Martin explained that they took control of WCPA social media and the website, claimed that the Earth Federation owned land between Egypt and Sudan, and asserted copyright claims over the Earth Constitution. This caused ongoing issues, including illegitimate DMCA takedowns and member confusion about the legitimate organization and website.

While concerning, the primary focus must remain on work toward the Constitution and the World Constituent Assembly. Julio Mas expressed concern over unclear ownership of the website and institution and asked about causes and solutions. Glen Martin explained the problem arose due to the attitude of the former members regarding organizational authority as a world government, leading to disagreements over management and decision-making.

Options to resolve the problem are being explored, including completing the PWP website, securing networks more effectively, and considering legal action or arbitration as a last resort. Juan Amor suggested non-confrontational alternatives such as renaming or generating alternative text with AI, while Francisco Plancarte fully supported the Presidium and offered to work toward harmony and unity.

Alicia proposed distinguishing the organization through a specific term and registering the Parliament under that differentiation. Carl Greens emphasized not letting internal disagreements distract from creating the Earth Federation

Constitution. Glen Martin mentioned that Juan Amor is developing a new website for the PWP and planning a digital campaign to spread its message. Julio Mas suggested that the best way to differentiate is through concrete actions, especially regarding activation of UN Article 109.

Progress Reports from Administrations, Commissions, Committees, and Delegations

- Digital Strategy: Juan Amor reported 80% completion of the main website body, with aesthetic design and style guide remaining.

- World Boundaries and Elections Administration: José María Tejederas explained that the commission has 14 members meeting monthly with the goal of geographically defining the 1,000 global districts. Progress is being made primarily in North, Central, and South America.

- Press Room: Roger Kotila reported the press room still has work ahead, with plans for a press conference in India costing ~$10,000, and noted the organization is declared "unfriendly" by the U.S. Department of State.

- Ratification Commission: José María Tejederas reported that the work is being done through three channels: people, groups/organizations, and nations, with meetings every 15 days. A central point is the importance of article 109 of the UN for reviewing the Charter. They launched a Constitution outreach operation assigning one new person per member, and once the website is active to all members.

- Legislative Review Commission: Leopoldo Cook reported the 175 proposed constitutional amendments have been completed. Focus now on preparing the 5th World Constituent Assembly.

- Earth Emergency Rescue Administration: Alicia de los Ángeles Roda reported 16 members organized by specialized areas, with a Permanent Commission and each department led by a Commissioner. Meetings are held in the last weeks of the month; three meetings have occurred since February.

- World Peace and Disarmament Commission: Reported three global marches led by Rafael de la Rubia; a fourth is planned in September with simultaneous worldwide events in hundreds of cities.

- Education Committee: Hemlata Talesra detailed efforts to educate students and teachers about global governance through lessons, materials, and university collaborations.

- Youth Committee: Meeting held on April 10, 2026. Discussed collaborating with organizations in multiple countries to inform youth about the Earth Constitution; organize international and local forums and events; incorporate talented youth; prepare youth-friendly Constitution summaries; maintain active social media presence.

Other commissions did not present due to absent coordinators.

Participants also shared creative proposals including a board game ("World Peace and Harmony") proposed by Srinivas Kumar and community funding strategies suggested by Zhaklina.

Glen Martin concluded the meeting thanking all participants for their support and announcing the upcoming launch of the PWP website.
